

Juliet,

Enclosed are the 3D printed religious keepsakes you ordered. This completes your order.

I had promised to send you a gift of 100 humble crosses, but I need to retract that gift at this point.

I will always look back on the season of our friendship with good feeling. It was during that season that I felt the Spirit drawing me toward baptism at the beach—a moment that remains the most meaningful of my adult life, especially after losing my son.

But seasons change, and there's no reason to resist that.

What I thought we had, perhaps we never really did. Still, it was a time I felt blessed. And I trust those blessings will continue.

May God bless all who bless me, and deal with those who don't as He sees fit.
And I do pray that His blessings fall on both of us.

Amen.
